Same here except I saw his first rally in Texas in 2015.

I first saw POTUS in 2015, in South Carolina.

It was the first rally where a "muslim woman" stood up "in protest." , 🤔 🤔

She just stood there, silent. It was very awkward, but she got shouted down quickly.

Honestly, I think Trump had my vote even before that. As the primaries went on, and then the general election, I became more and more sure that he was the right man for the job.

I know he's going to win; I just hope he goes scorched earth on EVERYTHING and EVERYONE starting at high noon, January 20, 2021.

I shall watch it immediately. My dad is a big western movie fan, I didn't appreciate the characters when I was young, I liked the hero cowboy idea and learned to spin a toy 6 shooter in both hands as a 10 year old because it was cool as fuck. (Still is btw) but I've learned to appreciate the legends like Rooster Cogburn and Shane, (Incidentally my older brother's namesake) but my dad knew from the get go that trump was for real. He knows a real Hero When he sees one. He saw through the Exterior packaging to what trump really was, one of us, only braver. Took me and my sister years to see it. But we're making up for our ignorance as best as we can these days. Unfortunately my brother, the one christened with the name of a legendary cowboy, voted for Biden. I tried to persuade him before the election but to no avail. All I could do was cry out ‘Shane! Come back Shane!’ As the distance grew between us and a feeling of uncertainty about the future hung over our heads. But there Is always the hope that he’s not done for, his fate isn’t sealed and Maybe, just maybe, it was just a flesh wound and he’ll return, some day, to make our family whole again

First time I saw trump was in Michigan, December 2015. It was his “schlonged” speech. There were a dozen protestors that night and every rally in 2016. Chicago was shut down.

When I talk to people about the great steal , I remind them that those protestors we saw at every single rally in 2016, they went away in 2020 - why is that? Cause the opposition is bought and paid for - nothing organic about it. They didn’t protest in 2020 cause they didn’t need to - they knew they were going to steal it - hence why Biden never campaigned and admitted as much.

It's easy to be fooled, especially when you're an honest person who expects other people to keep their word.

By now, the Republicans should know very well who they're dealing with - cheats and liars, who are willing to break any rule and use any means necessary to get their way. They'd better stop believing them, and stop with this stupid "let's work together, we'll just let this fraud slide" business.

This is their last chance in politics, and most of them are too stupid to get any other job, so they'd better take this seriously.

This. The amount of pay to play I'm seeing in our new political bourgeoisie class based on how many simply refuse to acknowledge blatant fraud evidence is enough for me.

I'm still wrapping my brain around how the Trump administration (the Team America version which we're slowly seeing come to light now) was able to operate and keep establishment GOP off their backs but the more I think about it, all they really had to do was stay silent or tow a line—they could leave the greater defamation and discrediting campaign to the experts who have been at it for decades: Dems and their MSM lapdogs.

We have a huge opportunity to see how that rotten disfigured sausage is made, and we would have never been much the wiser had DJT stepped in. I never thought I would have typed that sentence just a couple years ago, but it gives me hope that we may finally see some sort of GAIN in our liberties at some point in our lifetimes instead of the constant infringements in the world's transformation into 🤪🌍.

We're still using the 1986 Law to BUILD THAT WALL right this very second. It wasn't instant citizenship; people still had to apply and go through the process to naturalize, and not everyone who qualified for it did apply. It was about 50/50 Dem/Rep split of new voters. It didn't turn CA into Dem controlled (that would be the Dems cheating since the 1994 Fight vs Prop 187 which they lost and a Leftie judge tossed out, but the Dems have been doing these full scale ballot cheating from top down to dogcatcher since.)

Overall, R.Reagan said his biggest mistake of was signing no-fault divorce in CA as Governor; and he's certainly correct about that. He didn't realize at the time, that it was the spearhead of full marxism distruction attack on marriage/families/morality etc creating the scale of the monstrosity which is "family court" and the continued assaults upon "the marriage contract" even to this day by marxists.

No Fault is garbage, for both auto insurance (rates skyrocketed wherever it passed, it forces safe drivers to pay for bozos and uninsured) and divorce.

If one party didn't commit adultery, abuse, etc. then that person should, at least, keep everything but the other person's clothes.

For real. Hard to forgive that.

It turned California, a steady red state, into a 3rd world shithole handed to the Democrats on a silver platter. Hispanics make up most of the state, and that population is easily duped into voting democrat because all the little anchor babies think those are gonna be the ones that legalize their mom and dad, or buddies of theirs with DACA. Essentially now just a big boost to Democrats every election.

The there is his views on gun rights. Signed legislation like the Firearm Owners Protection Act even with an amendment by a New Jersey Democrat which basically banned automatic rifles not registered by May 19th, 1986. He threw his support behind two legislations like the Brady Bill and was in big support of the Assault Weapons Ban.

Then there's the Iran Contra affair and what not.

People romanticize Reagan for some weird reason. Trump is way better.

Different times call for a different man. Reagan's job was winning the Cold War and bringing an end to the monstrous evil that was the USSR. Bush Sr. simply presided over the inevitable end. The mortal wounds were delivered by Reagan working in conjunction with Margaret Thatcher and Pope John Paul II. Like today, this was first and foremost a spiritual battle, but Trump's job is to win the whole War for the world.

I loved Reagan, but if he pulls this off (and we'll know this week). Trump will have eclipsed Reagan and will certainly earn that spot on Mt. Rushmore that is rumored to be reserved for him.

My son went to the January 10, 2016. We got up at the crack of dawn and drove all the way to Clear Lake, Iowa. We were among the first 10 people in line, we got into the front row and after he spoke he came down from the stage to say hello to everyone and sign autographs, it was great. When he got to us we spoke for a moment and I got him to sign one of his books I bought to give to my son.

I got in the front row again in Eu Clair Wisconsin, there I had a picture of him and Ronald Reagan which I dropped as I handed it to him and he bent over and picked it up, and signed it for me.

When he announced his presidential run, I didn't pay attention to it. I thought it was a gimmick for some quick and easy press. Then I heard what he has to say. I've been an unwavering supporter ever since. I would take a bullet for that man without hesitation.

I'm a registered Dem, my moment was 2015 early primaries, when he was on stage with a slew of the Republican candidates. I, too was never really a "fan". Its not that I disliked him, he just wasn't in my realm. However, I do remember bonding with him over Obama's birth certificate, foreign wars & Rosie Odonell. Then blip, off my radar until 2015. He had me at "border wall". His authenticity was so genuine. It still is! I love him with all my heart! He is my hero!

Same here. Never followed Donald Trump, never watched his show. I wasn't even impressed when he talked about running for President. When he announced he was running, I shrugged my shoulders, and said I probably wouldn't vote for him. Then I started reading about the things he was saying, and I perked up, and started listening. I was surprised to hear a Republican candidate who was finally fighting back. Instead of sitting in the corner like a scolded puppy dog...like Bush and all the other so-called Republicans did when attacked, Donald Trump dropped MOAB after MOAB on his political enemies. That was the one thing that got my attention, and my loyalty. I'm 73, but I'd still take a bullet for the man.

At this point the cost different between fuel and ammo is probably negligible. Hell if it's a cargo bird you can pack loads of flying commies on those babies for a much better bang for your buck.

WAIT A MINUTE 🤔 🤔 🤔

GIVE THEM CHUTES and PUSH THEM OUT so the shooting ranges on the LZ can use them as target practice on the way down! From heli height they'll still be moving pretty quick but I am confident that they'd be DOA.

Obama then proceeded to humiliate Donald j trump one night on stage infront of everyone the look Donald j trump gave that night during the laughing and humiliation spoke volumes He didnt even flinch he stone faced Obama like I've never seen. Greater love has no one than this: to lay down one's life for one's friends. You are my friends if you do what I command. I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you. You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you so that you might go and bear fruit—fruit that will last—and so that whatever you ask in my name the Father will give you. John 15:13-16 NIV

I am truly beyond sick of everyone being "willing to die". How about willingness to turn the enemy into mulch? How about willingness to ignore the screams of pain, the cries for mercy and the offering of money from the enemy because nothing is more important than ending them? That's the WILLING that wins wars.

It's just a common cultural saying. Being willing to "die for your country" has been used for decades, if not longer, to mean you're willing to stack enemies and fight for your country without reservation. People use it because it's been a common phrase for generations.

Bring food, charcoal, cookware and utensils, small grills, water for cooking and drinking, medical supplies including burn and trauma kits, hand warmers, "medium" and "heavy" tarps and straps, two pairs of socks per day, and plan on sharing stuff with others. Bring hand tools and stuff to make barricades from whatever is around. Think ahead. Prepare for the worst, hope for the best. Better to have and not need, than need and not have.

Because they passed corrupt unconstitutional 2a bans in dc, I can tell you what to do, but you can make a shield with stuff out of home depot or scrap if you got it. Look up medieval shield designs. You arent trying to make it bullet proof, just to keep thrown objects and melee strikes off of you, make a shield wall, etc. A 12in x 24x x 1in plank of wood strapped to you fore arm with padding and a hand strap is better than nothing. You can paint it too. Make a cane or walking stick from 1in pipe and fittings, make it in segments to be screwed together, and a spot on the underside of your shield for it. Love for the Pedes, God bless and see you there!

After Jan 6th, it'll be Jan 13th, then Jan 20th, then it'll be a bunch of boycotts and yelling about senators and Rinos, some pockets of pedes will protest a little more, then it will be trying to lock up Biden, then memes/arguing with leftists on Twitter until 2022 when everyone tries to vote out rinos to no avail.

We don't need to go to DC to fight, we need our communities around our own homes to arm up fight and refuse this nonsense. No DC protest is gonna change anything, we need to start rioting locally and stop fucking around on Twitter.

Yes, rioting, in our capitals. Not marching, but showing them we are done with communism, completely. There's no going back, there's no other option. Even if Trump wins, there's no other outcome.

And your specific recommendations would be.....?

I am all ears. I am as pissed as anyone but if I and 5mm others show up in DC packing (concealed) what do you think will happen?

You're not going to have to. But that is a good point.

I totally agree with you. He is a hero already. I didnt even vote in 2016. Despised all dems but was skeptical about Trump. I was thrilled when he won though!

Greatest president since Reagan, at least! Depending on the next 3 weeks, he could go down in history right besides George and Abraham.

You are insane. I am willing to lay my life down for my country and the Americans who love freedom... so I guess that includes him, but I am not exclusively willing to die for the President.

I'm not willing to die for Trump. I'm willing to die for my own loved ones.

I'd be willing to kill for a billionaire from New York.

Let's leave the dying to the communists.
